Dear Bill and Preston,

I am greatly disappointed that the Forest/BLM boundary fence at Lynn Springs quarry was not fixed as was directed. To prevent cattle that were coming on the allotment on June 20 from straying, the fence needed to be fixed by that date. Last fall when the fence was removed without prior permission, Preston was told by me that the fence had to be replaced either where it was or a replacement fence around the quarry would be acceptable while the quarry was active. Dan Washington of the BLM was present when those instructions were given and did agree with them. On June 16 I left a message for Bill that the fence had to be fixed by June 20. The cattle were due in on that date. Also on June 16 I did locate Preston at the Dove Creek quarry and gave him the same information. I made an inspection at Lynn Springs this morning and found that the fence was still down.

This fence problem is only one in a long list of permit breaches that have happened in about the last year. The others I refer to are: 1 the clearing of processing area without advance approval, 2 clearing of additional quarry area at the north end of the ridge without advance approval, 3 clearing of a new quarry at the south end of the ridge without advance approval. 4. late payment for stone removed. Items 1, 2, and 3 are breaches of permit condition 4 of your special use permit. Condition 18 requires advance payment for material removed. You were less than timely in making payment for a Bill for Collection when it was discovered that more material had been removed than was covered with advance payment. The removing of the Forest/BLM fence without advance permission is a breach of permit conditions 4 and 9.

In the last year and several months at least three permit conditions have breached five times. This is not a good record of permit compliance. Before June 30, 1995 you need to set a date with Pete Peterson and me to discuss why we should not start action to cancel your Lynn Springs quarry Special Use Permit for breach as provided in permit condition 16.

Sincerely,
